

The New Zealand Expeditionary Force In World War II: Men at Arms 486

A Must-Read for Military History Enthusiasts

The New Zealand Expeditionary Force In World War II: Men at Arms 486 is a fascinating and detailed account of the New Zealanders' involvement in the war. From the early days of the conflict, when New Zealand was one of the first countries to declare war on Germany, to the final victory in 1945, the book provides a comprehensive overview of the New Zealanders' role in the war.

The book is divided into three main sections. The first section covers the early years of the war, from the outbreak of hostilities in 1939 to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. The second section covers the period from the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor to the end of the war in Europe in 1945. The third section covers the postwar period, from the end of the war in Europe to the present day.
