Being a single black mom is tough. You have to work hard to make ends meet, raise your kids, and keep your head above water. But that doesn't mean you can't live a fabulous life.

In this book, I'm going to share everything I've learned about how to live a swagged out lifestyle as a single black mom. I'll cover everything from budgeting to dating to raising happy and successful kids.

Chapter 1: Budgeting

One of the biggest challenges single black moms face is budgeting. It can be hard to make ends meet when you're on a tight budget. But there are some things you can do to make it easier.

- Track your expenses. The first step to budgeting is to track your expenses. This will help you see where your money is going and where you can cut back.
- Create a budget. Once you know where your money is going, you can create a budget. A budget will help you allocate your money so that you can make ends meet.
- Stick to your budget. The hardest part of budgeting is sticking to it. But if you're disciplined, you'll be able to make it work.

Chapter 2: Dating

Dating as a single black mom can be a challenge. But it's not impossible. Here are a few tips to help you find love:

- Be yourself. The most important thing is to be yourself. Don't try to be someone you're not. The right person will love you for who you are.
- Put yourself out there. The best way to meet someone is to put yourself out there. Join a club, take a class, or volunteer. The more people you meet, the more likely you are to find someone special.
- Don't give up. Dating can be tough, but don't give up. The right person is out there somewhere. Just keep looking.

Chapter 3: Raising Happy and Successful Kids

Raising happy and successful kids is one of the most important things you can do as a single black mom. Here are a few tips to help you:

- Be a positive role model. Your kids will learn from you, so it's important to set a good example. Be positive, hardworking, and ambitious.
- Encourage your kids. Let your kids know that you believe in them. Encourage them to follow their dreams and never give up.
- Spend time with your kids. Quality time is important for kids. Make sure to spend time with your kids every day, even if it's just for a few minutes.

Being a single black mom is tough, but it's also rewarding. With a little bit of effort, you can live a fabulous life and raise happy and successful kids.
