

Time to Build: A Manifesto for the Future of Capitalism

In his new book, Time to Build, renowned entrepreneur and investor Chris Sacca argues that capitalism is broken and offers a bold new vision for how to fix it. Sacca believes that the current system is rigged in favor of the wealthy and powerful, and that it is time for a change.

Sacca's book is divided into three parts. In the first part, he outlines the problems with the current system. He argues that capitalism has become too concentrated, with too much power in the hands of a few large corporations. This concentration of power has led to a number of problems, including rising inequality, stagnant wages, and environmental degradation.

In the second part of the book, Sacca proposes a number of radical reforms to fix capitalism. These reforms include:

- A universal basic income: This would be a guaranteed income for all citizens, regardless of their employment status. Sacca believes that this would help to reduce poverty and inequality, and would give people more freedom to pursue their dreams.
- A wealth tax: This would be a tax on the net worth of individuals and families. Sacca believes that this would help to reduce inequality and raise revenue for important public programs.
- A new system of corporate governance: This would give workers and customers a greater say in how corporations are run. Sacca believes that this would make corporations more accountable and responsive to the needs of society.

In the third part of the book, Sacca outlines his vision for the future of capitalism. He believes that capitalism can be a force for good in the world, but only if it is reformed to be more fair and equitable. He calls on readers to join him in building a better future for capitalism.

Time to Build is a must-read for anyone who is concerned about the future of capitalism. Sacca's ideas are bold and ambitious, but they are also grounded in a deep understanding of the system. His book is a call to action for all of us to work together to create a better future for capitalism.
